

Graduate Certificate in Applied Management (Policing and Emergency Services)

The AIPM Graduate Certificate has been a watershed moment in the professional and personal lives for many public safety leaders. In continuing to provide this support to individuals and organisations, the Graduate Certificate is now delivered as a fully supported distance learning experience.

The Graduate Certificate is a six month personal and organisational commitment to education and leadership development. Distance education builds deep personal resilience. During this long journey participants are supported by the AIPM visiting fellows.

Organisational leadership is the key focus of the education with codified knowledge and personal experience underpinning the practice of academic research, argument and writing skills - all being highly regarded skills for effective leadership.
